

Very rarely, do you come across someone that goes above and beyond the call of duty, especially in the mortgage business. My husband and I are first time home buyers, and we were trying to meet the deadline for the Tax income credit with limited funds. Dave worked with us from the beginning right through to the end. He would always follow up, and there was never a moment that he did not take the time to explain to us what we're doing, or what a certain document was for. He offered us a wonderful rate and didn't change it overnight. To confirm his dedication to his clients, at settlement he was still able to save us allot of money. I can assure you that people like Dave are not a dime a dozen! Eagle Nationwide did what they said they were going to do and more, and in the end that's what matters the most.
